Rewrite This Story - David R Anderson

```
A                A           D           D
Out on city streets, lights shine out bright,
           A           A          E         E
There's a tale of two worlds in, the dead of the night.
   D        D           A          F#-
Luxurious towers, they reach for the sky,
     E         E           D         A    A
while way down below, dreams struggle to fly.
```

Chorus:

```
          D       D      B⁷              B
    Opportunity gaps, right from the start,
          E       E       D        D
    A difference so deep, it keeps us apart.
       A         D       A         F#-
    while few get the keys, to fortune and fame,
       E              E           D          A      E
    The rest all must struggle, just to play in their game.
```

```
      A           A           D           D
On a corner stands a child, with eyes full of hope,
      A           A           E           E
But the odds stack against him, so how can he cope?
       D           D           A         F#-
While a few count their riches, in billions galore,
     E           E           D       A    A
The rest all work endlessly, can't get any more.
```

```
    (Chorus)
```

```
    A           A           D           D
It is not about envy, it is not about greed,
    A           A           E           E
But fairness and justice, for all those in need.
      D         D           A       F#-
Let us fix this divide, let em-path-y guide,
      E           E           D           A      A
For a world, with fair-ness, will fill us with pride.
```

```
    (Chorus)
```

```
        A           A           D           D
So let's raise our voices, let's all stand as one,
        A           A           E           E
'Til every struggle's calmed, and every change has come,
      D       D       A       F#-
To a future when, e-qual-ity reigns,
      E           E           D         A        F#-
Let's rewrite this story, to show how it can change,
      E              E            D   D     A      A!
Let's rewrite this story, to show how, it can change.
```

Rewrite This Story - David R Anderson

```
G                    G              C            C
Out on city streets, lights shine out bright,
                     G          G           D         D
There's a tale of two worlds in, the dead of the night.
    C          C          G            E-
Luxurious towers, they reach for the sky,
        D          D          C         G     G
While way down below, dreams struggle to fly.
```

Chorus:

```
           C         C      A⁷                 A
      Opportunity gaps, right from the start,
           D         D        C          C
      A difference so deep, it keeps us apart.
           G            C        G        E-
      while few get the keys, to fortune and fame,
           D            D                 C              G      D
      The rest all must struggle, just to play in their game.
```

```
          G              G          C              C
On a corner stands a child, with eyes full of hope,
          G          G              D           D
But the odds stack against him, so how can he cope?
          C            C          G          E-
While a few count their riches, in billions galore,
      D              D              C      G    G
The rest all work endlessly, can't get any more.
```

    (Chorus)

```
          G           G           C            C
It is not about envy, it is not about greed,
          G           G          D            D
But fairness and justice, for all those in need.
         C          C          G         E-
Let us fix this divide, let em-path-y guide,
          D           D           C            G       G
For a world, with fair-ness, will fill us with pride.
```

    (Chorus)

```
            G          G              C             C
So let's raise our voices, let's all stand as one,
           G             G            D              D
'Til every struggle's calmed, and every change has come,
         C       C       G       E-
To a future when, e-qual-ity reigns,
          D           D          C          G          E-
Let's rewrite this story, to show how it can change,
          D            D              C   C       G        G!
Let's rewrite this story, to show how,  it can change.
```

Rewrite This Story - David R Anderson

```
1               1             4          4
Out on city streets, lights shine out bright,
           1           1           5           5
There's a tale of two worlds in, the dead of the night.
    4       4           1           6-
Luxurious towers, they reach for the sky,
       5           5           4         1    1
While way down below, dreams struggle to fly.
```

Chorus:

```
         4         4      2⁷                2
    Opportunity gaps, right from the start,
         5          5        4          4
    A difference so deep, it keeps us apart.
          1          4        1           6-
    while few get the keys, to fortune and fame,
         5             5                 4          1      5
    The rest all must struggle, just to play in their game.
```

```
       1               1             4          4
On a corner stands a child, with eyes full of hope,
         1           1           5           5
But the odds stack against him, so how can he cope?
       4           4           1          6-
While a few count their riches, in billions galore,
     5           5           4         1    1
The rest all work endlessly, can't get any more.
```

   (Chorus)

```
       1             1             4          4
It is not about envy, it is not about greed,
     1           1           5           5
But fairness and justice, for all those in need.
       4       4       1         6-
Let us fix this divide, let em-path-y guide,
       5             5             4       1       1
For a world, with fair-ness, will fill us with pride.
```

   (Chorus)

```
         1           1             4            4
So let's raise our voices, let's all stand as one,
       1           1           5               5
'Til every struggle's calmed, and every change has come,
     4       4       1         6-
To a future when, e-qual-ity reigns,
     5           5           4         1         6-
Let's rewrite this story, to show how it can change,
       5           5             4  4       1         1!
Let's rewrite this story, to show how,  it can change.
```